Notes on Missionary Convention at Latonia, Ky.

The annual assembly of the C. W. B. M., K. C. M. C., and K. C. B. S. A. met at Latonia, Ky., on Monday evening, Sept. 16, and continued until Thursday evening. Eight years ago there were only 6 members of the Christian Church at Latonia, then a suburb of Covington. P. H. Duncan and Geo. A. Miller, ministers at Bellevue-Dayton and Covington, went and preached for these brethren as opportunity was afforded. Five years ago the present pastor, H. C. Runyan, began to serve the congregation. The State Missionary Board contributed to the work. So successful have been his labors and so rapid the growth of the little band in service, sacrifice and devotion that now there are 265 members, they are self-supporting and have erected a nice frame church sufficiently large for the holding of our state conventions. Anxious to show their appreciation of what the Board had done for them up to and including 1906-1907, they decided early last spring to enlarge their building and insisted on entertaining the conventions. About $3,000 was spent on the improvement. A most cordial welcome was extended. Churches in neighboring cities and members of other congregations at home had fellowship in this ministry. An incomplete enrollment, exclusive of local members, showed fully 600 visitors in attendance.

On Monday evening a Joint Educational Session was held. The chief feature was an address by Z. F. Smith.

C. W. B. M.

The three sessions of Tuesday were occupied by this organization, which has grown to be a great factor in educational and missionary work in Kentucky, the United States and foreign lands. The president, Mrs. A. M. Harrison, could not be present on account of the sickness of her sister, Miss Rebel Withers. Mrs. Sarah Yancey, State Secretary and Organizer, presided. We have not her report, but from it are taken these items, which are approximate: auxiliaries, 134; membership, 2148; Missionary Tidings taken, 1900; money for all purposes, $21,000; and this sum includes $1900 raised by the children and a special gift of $2,000 from Hazel Green Academy dormitory.

This dormitory for the boys will cost about $9,000, will be made of reinforced concrete, two story and will accommodate 80 boys—will be begun at once and is expected to be finished early in 1908. For this fund an offering was taken aggregating $1066.94.

OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR.

Present officers were re-elected. President—Mrs. A. M. Harrison, Lexington. State Secretary and Organizer—Mrs. Sarah Yancey, Lexington. Treasurer—Mrs. O. L. Bradley, Lexington. Supt. of Young People—Mrs. Mary Smith Walden, Danville.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

A Joint Session of K. C. M. C. & K. C. B. S. A. was held. The President of the former is B. M. Arnett, a banker of Nicholasville. The President of the latter is W. Hume Logan, a manufacturer of iron goods at Louisville. They delivered their addresses. H. W. Elliott, State Evangelist and Treasurer, read his report. From it we take some items.

Seventy-five years have passed since the restoration movement began under Stone, Campbell, Smith, Rogers and others. It is safely within the realm of probability that 100,000 people have been led to unite with us in these 75 years through this agency of co-operative missionary effort, and 500 congregations organized independent of growth in local congregations. During the past 22 years our missionary organization has raised and expended, including money for local work and self-support, $443,166.00 and built 167 houses of worship.

As early as 1840 this co-operation began to be called The Kentucky Christian Missionary Convention. There are 60 counties included in this organization.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

The Aches and Pains Will Disappear if the Advice of This Mt. Sterling Citizen is followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains. Most times 'tis the kidney's fault. Backache is really kidney ache. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it. Many Mt. Sterling women know this.

Read what one has to say about it: Mrs. Pamela A. Fletcher, of Queen Street, Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "For years I had kidney complaint, pains across the small of my back and over my kidneys, dreadful aching in my back and I was sometimes so lame across my hips that I could not stoop and there was also difficulty with the kidney secretions. I used different medicines and prescriptions which seemed at the time to relieve me, but I obtained no lasting benefit. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and a relative of mine got a box for me at F. C. Duerson's drug store. I used them as directed and they helped me in every way. My back felt much better and stronger and the annoying and distressing kidney weakness was greatly relieved. My brother, Strother D. Carrington, of Paris, Ky., who had suffered a good many years with kidney trouble, also used Doan's Kidney Pills and found the results most beneficial. Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly worthy of recommendation."

Plenty more proof like this from Mt. Sterling people. Call at F. C. Duerson's drug store and ask what customers report. For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 12-31

Senator Knox was formally endorsed for the Republican nomination for President next year by the Pennsylvania State League of Republican Club at Harrodsburg.

"I'll Tell Father."

"I'll tell father," is the threat a certain girl of our acquaintance uses whenever the younger members of the family become a trifle unruly. And she is as good as her word, too. Again and again, when her father comes in at night, he is given a detailed account of some little impropriety in the conduct of the children before he has more than time to hang up his hat. And tired as he is from his day at business, he must immediately turn his attention to Johnnie's disobedience or Willie's carelessness.

Now, father, as well as mother, should have a part in the family discipline. But it is better to leave your mother to ask for aid when she needs it, than to appoint yourself a committee to notify father that his services are required. And one of the reasons is, that mother knows so much better than you do when it is best to call father's attention to matters that need correction. If his nerves are unstrung over something that has gone wrong in his business, it is not a very good time to tell him that George has fallen below the required percentage in his studies.

If he is eager to relate some piece of good fortune, it is a pity to dampen his spirits the first thing by recounting Addie's naughtiness. The girl who is loyal to her father is not willing to burden him unnecessarily. She does not carry him tales of the other children's conduct simply to repay them for disregarding her requests. She leaves her mother to decide when it is necessary to appeal to him for aid in the family discipline. Her brothers and sisters are not kept in subjection by the threat, "I'll tell father!"—Girl's Companion.

Trial Catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere, as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by F. C. Duerson. 12-31

Judge Hager Makes Attitude Plain.

In another place this report says: "The Democratic Party, through its candidates for Governor and United States Senator, pledge their hearty support to the Anti-Saloon League program. Judge Hager, the candidate for Governor, endorses the extension of the county unit law, the enactment of other measures and pledges, in addition, the strict enforcement of the Sunday closing laws in case he becomes Governor."

Judge Hager's letter, defining his attitude, is as follows:

Frankfort, Ky., May 25, '07.
Mr. L. C. Kelly,
Editor Kentucky Issue,
Louisville, Ky.

My Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your letter requesting me, through the columns of your paper, to define my attitude toward legislative measures relating to temperance and the better enforcement of Sunday Closing Laws, should such measures demand my attention as Governor of Kentucky, in the event I am elected.

Complying, will say that I am in sympathy with the best thought and sentiment of our State, and heartily favor, not only the material advancement of our Commonwealth, but its moral upbuilding; and to that end, if elected Governor, shall favor and encourage the enactment of all reasonable and practical measures that make for and truly advance the cause of temperance.

I heartily approve the action of the last Democratic General Assembly in passing the County Unit Law, the principle of which I believe to be thoroughly Democratic, and will favor such development of said law as will fully meet the demands of the Commonwealth. I will be in sympathy with a policy that will keep the laws abreast of the best moral sentiment of the people.

Being a Democrat, I believe in the largest degree of personal liberty consistent with the general welfare; but on the strict enforcement of the laws I stand "four square to every wind that blows." When, and in the event, I become Governor, my oath will be to faithfully execute the duties of that office. I shall prove true to my oath and duty "to take care that the laws are faithfully executed."

Certainly, therefore, I shall, if necessary, exhaust every prerogative of the office in seeing that the laws relating to the proper observance of the Sabbath are enforced.

Very respectfully,
S. W. Hager.

Kentucky Crop Report.

Under favorable weather during the month of September, crops are maturing rapidly, and unless we have early frosts, the prospects are excellent for a good crop of corn and tobacco. The yield of wheat was small, averaging ten bushels the quality being good.

The prospect for a crop of corn is 88 per cent, condition 91 per cent. Fall plowing has progressed nicely. The usual average of wheat will be sown. Some tobacco has been cut but most of it is still growing, and late plantings are in danger of early frosts. Meadows have been saved as a rule in good condition. All live stock is in fine shape. Hogs are scarce and high in sections. Labor scarce and wages high all over the State.

EASY TO MIX.

Prepare it at Home By Shaking Ingredients Well in a Bottle.

What will appear very interesting to many people is the article taken from a New York daily paper giving a simple prescription, as formulated by a noted authority, who claims that he has found a positive remedy to cure almost any case of backache or kidney or bladder derangement, in the following simple prescription, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well-known druggist here at home, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy, or the mixture would be put up if asked to do so. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic afflictions with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache, as it has a peculiar action upon the kidney structure, cleansing the most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter which cause sickness and suffering. Those of our readers who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

Earthquakes during the night of September 22 and September 23 damaged many houses and churches at Guatemala City. The coffee district was not affected.

FOR PARTY CANDIDATES.

The senior editor of the Advocate has preferences in all matters political just the same as he has in other measures. His contests are made within party lines and when a majority speaks, whether according to his views or otherwise, he obeys. "I am not greater than my party," is a truthful saying of a great man. When the action of my party becomes intolerable then, like unto men who have led the issues on this and other continents, he will head an organization holding to his views or line up with another nearest his ideal in doctrines, which, when put into use, would bring the greatest good to the greatest number.

Just here we are reminded of an incident. A man big in avoirdupois was recognized in a state convention with politics of his kind, who said: "Mr. President, I am a Democrat." To him it seems that a man should so adhere to his doctrines that such a declaration would be as superfluous as was this declaration of a representative in a political convention. He stands by and supports the nominees when unsuccessful in receiving his choice the same as when successful. In the city race just closed is an example. Some were his choice, others were not, but he is for every one of them.

A COME DOWNS.

Mr. Willson has been making charges of Graft in a general way and Judge Hager demands that he show his hand, that if there is graft in connection with any department at Frankfort he must be specific in his charges and since then Willson has been talking of Democratic extravagance.

ENCOURAGING.

We had thought the Democratic majority would reach this year 32,000, but the party is becoming the more harmonious and the Republicans failing to stir up strife the word come from Democratic quarters that the people may be surprised to see a 40,000 majority the coming November.

SPEAKS BOLDLY.

Republicans may hunt for other damaging charges against Judge Hager since he has plainly stated he had nothing to do with the nominating of the Louisville candidates. "It is Louisville's business, said he, to make her own nominations and is therefore no more my business than it is a Republican's business. I believe in the right of self-government."

IMPORTANT OFFICE.

The office of magistrate is a very responsible one. The faithful and efficient performance of the duties involved requires that its occupant should be intelligent, energetic, sober and honest. The voters should see to it that the best men are elected.

No encouragement should be given to the thought "any kind of a man" will do.

SWAP HORSES.

For two years the present council with her acts have been before the people. On Monday the Democrats said gentlemen step aside and made another deal. Should these men fail to come up to the full measurement two years hence they will be similarly disposed.

There is much to do in the city of Mt. Sterling and now is the time for the doing. New pavements, new streets, better telephone service, interurban and steam railways and many other things are needed. We can have them if the council will so decree. The nominations of Monday are the same as elections, for there will be no opposition.

NO SORES TO HEAL.

Tuesday after the City Democratic Primary we undertook to see the unsuccessful candidates, and finding T. P. Sutton, L. T. Chiles, J. W. Wade, T. B. Rodman, M. R. Hainline and A. M. Bourne, each expressed himself as satisfied with results and will support the nominees as ardently as they would have expected their support. Mr. Petry had gone up the river early Tuesday morning, having anticipated results, hence we failed to see him. We will touch for his Democracy, however. Mr. Day was also out of the city, but can be depended on as being in line for the November fray. Mr. Anderson is at home sick, but said to us prior to election day, whether successful or not, would make no change in his political record. Each of the candidates were good Democrats before the election and are just as firm in their political convictions now, since the contest has closed. Their defeat made changes in neither policies nor doctrines, and they will support the Democratic ticket.

Dave Mosby was the prize winner of the aggregation. Dave is a "colored gem" men with a penchant for pugnaous performances and was charged by his leading lady, Anna Robinson, of 322 Coleman street, with applying cosmetics to her face with a pair of brass knucks. Annie told how Dave came to her house out of humor and proceeded to raise heel. She insisted that he observe the rules of parlor etiquette and he knocked down. His honor won't stand for cruelty to animals, particularly a woman, and David was promptly soaked to the tune of $20 and trimmings.

For severely whipping a horse he was driving cost Lewis Jackson a negro, $13 in Police Court Monday morning. Jackson is employed by the Omnibus Company and yesterday lost his temper and abused one of the horses in his charge.—Leader.

PAIGN HAND-BOOK

WORK OF CLUMSY DOGGERS.

Reviewed By Men Who Have Fights at Finger Tips.

The Campaign Hand-book of the Republican party in Kentucky, the real platform of that party in the present State campaign, the document from which the leaders of that party expect their orators to get inspiration for the work upon the stump among the voters, has been issued by its Campaign Committee. Aside from its own Campaign Hand-book, and the literature which it is distributing, the Democratic State Campaign Committee could find no better document to place in the hands of its speakers with which to explode and clear up the Republican charges of mismanagement of the public affairs of Kentucky during the eight years past. Like Augustus E. Willson, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, the author of this Republican publication has demonstrated that he is a clumsy dogger on the live issues of the campaign; that he isn't even an expert at juggling figures in an effort to show a bad financial condition for the Commonwealth, and has contented himself with reviving matters brought up a year ago by a defeated candidate for gubernatorial honors, and which the people of Kentucky then had an opportunity to investigate and found without foundation in fact. Also with reproducing so-called editorials from a Frankfort paper, which ceased publication for lack of support, a veritable campaign sheet, issued by disgruntled Democratic politicians making a factional fight within the party.

With such misrepresentation abused by men who, like Mr. Willson, have been unsuccessful in every political ambition, the author of this Campaign Hand-book contents himself, hoping thereby to draw to the Republican side such Democrats as were not lined up on the side of those who were successful in the Democratic State primary election of last year. Not a word does this Republican publication contain regarding the flagrant violations of law by use and abuse of the military power during the dark days of Bradley and Taylor, from 1896 to 1900. Not a word of criticism has it, as had William Marshall Bullitt in the convention which nominated Mr. Willson, for the murders of William Goebel, or of Republicans in power at that time, and who are now fugitives from justice, declining even to return under promise of immunity from arrest, offered by the Commonwealth that the Goebel murder may be laid bare in all of its details by those who were responsible for its commission. With an announced motto, "The Firm, but Judicious, Enforcement of all Laws," and a reproduction of the weak, vacillating plank of the Republican platform upon temperance, and not a word upon the important subject of observance of the Sabbath Day Laws, the book authorizes the Republican speakers, for whose information it is intended, to dodge these live questions and to talk to suit the community in which the speaker happens to be.

under discussion. It reproduces the letter of the Rev. Dr. E. L. Powell, of Louisville, charging Governor Beckham with being insincere in his fight for temperance and of observance of the Sabbath, a letter which has been discredited in its every line by the policy which the Governor pursued in the city of Louisville. The author and publisher didn't ask the Rev. Dr. Powell for his latest views on this matter, or he would have had a contrary view to publish. The word "judicious" inserted in the Republican motto on the opening page of the publication is undoubtedly the loop hole through which the Campaign Committee expects the Republican gubernatorial nominee to escape, should he ever have the good fortune to be at the head of the government of Kentucky.

This rather remarkable publication contains from beginning to the close, rumors and hints of what it plays up in black face type as "Graft," but in not a single instance does it make the charge specifically, always contenting itself with reference to an editorial of an unfriendly newspaper, and going only far enough, as its editor thinks, to arouse a suspicion that it is not right in the affairs of government. Representatives of the Republican Party, among them Postmasters, and the former private Secretary of the fugitive, William S. Taylor, had access for months to every Department at Frankfort, and right well did they work in a fruitless effort to fasten these insinuations of "Graft" upon the officials in power. After all that work, their Campaign Hand-book issues, and it can do no better than to reprint and reproduce utterances of disgruntled persons who spent as much time as they did in seeking what could not be found, corruption or wrong-doing by the Democratic officials whom the people have trusted for eight years past. The cry of a "look at the books" which won for them in 1905, falls flat this year.

The boldest attempt made in this publication to insinuate "Graft" is in an article which the author of the book copies from the Frankfort Call which it terms a "Democratic Newspaper," but which was never at any time during the period of its publication, (for it is now defunct) edited by a loyal Democrat nor did it ever pose as a Democratic newspaper. Under the largest black face type in the book, this article, which is headed "Graft, Graft, Graft," and the Republican party thereby take responsibility for it. At the time this article was first published, neither the Board of Capitol Commissioners nor the Superintendent or others charged with the work of building the magnificent new Capitol, paid the slightest attention to it. The paper making the charge had no circulation except in the immediate community in which the building was being erected, and where every person resident knew better than it printed. Its editors and writers were known to be disgruntled and factional politicians, whose failure to be on the successful side within the Democratic party had soured them against their successful opponents. For these reasons those attacked in the article would not dignify it with a response and the telling of the facts in the matter on which the charge was based. This would have done at this time but for the fact that Mr. Willson and his fellow Republicans after the statement and attempt through it to poison the minds of the voters of the State against the men who have made the new Capitol possible, Judge Hager and Governor Beckham. Unable to bring a single specific charge of mis-doing in the construction of the Capitol, or the wrongful expenditure of a single dollar, and over seven hundred thousand dollars has already been expended in the work of construction, the Republicans now under discussion. It reproduces the letter of the Rev. Dr. E. L. Powell, of Louisville, charging Governor Beckham with being insincere in his fight for temperance and of observance of the Sabbath, a letter which has been discredited in its every line by the policy which the Governor pursued in the city of Louisville. The author and publisher didn't ask the Rev. Dr. Powell for his latest views on this matter, or he would have had a contrary view to publish. The word "judicious" inserted in the Republican motto on the opening page of the publication is undoubtedly the loop hole through which the Campaign Committee expects the Republican gubernatorial nominee to escape, should he ever have the good fortune to be at the head of the government of Kentucky.

"I notice that the Call of September 5th makes certain statements which they claim were given out by me to several parties with reference to the Superintendents of the new State Capitol Building and my reasons for tendering my resignation. I wish to absolutely refute any knowledge of ever having made any such statements and desire to state that my reasons for resigning were purely a personal matter."

Told by Parkave to Ashstreet and by Mrs. Parkave to Mrs. Ashstreet.

When Mr Parkave reads this he will appreciate the fact that there are sometimes two sides to a story. As he was coming downtown in the car his friend, Mr. Ashstreet, remarked: "Wasn't it a scorcher yesterday?" "That's the truth, and I know it, all right," replied Mr. Parkave. "Feel asleep on the lounge after dinner, and don't laugh—dreamed of a cooling thunderstorm, with rain and hail drenching against the house. Woke up and found my collar wilted; the perspiration streaming down my face and my underclothes as moist as if I had been out on the golf links with the mercury at 110 in the sun. Fact! Had to take a shower bath and change my clothing."

The other side of the story was told by Mrs Parkave two hours later as she was on her way to do some shopping. On the car she met Mrs. Ashstreet, and, of course, the hot weather was referred to.

"Yes, and I played such a mean trick on my man that I am almost ashamed to tell it," said Mrs. Parkave. "What was it, dear? You know I can keep a secret," asked Mrs. Ashstreet, unable to conceal her curiosity.

"Well, you know, as I have often told you, Jack snored terribly. Yesterday after dinner he went to sleep on the lounge and was soon snoring loud enough to alarm the neighborhood. The noise grated on my nerves, and in self-defense, as I said to myself, I went to the music room and banged away on the piano till I perspired. And what do you think I played?"

"You remember that descriptive storm piece I used to play when I wished to show off at boarding school? Well, I literally made the piano crash with thunder, and I had hailstones and big raindrops rattling and patterning noisily against the windows and shutters. Perhaps I improvised a little and told more thunder than the composer's score called for, but I was determined to drown Jack's snoring, and to make the storm more vivid, I added the lightning and, after a few times, finally, I heard Jack cut up from the lounge and mumble something about the heat."

"Has he been raining?" he asked as I came into the room.
"No," I replied.
"Well, I must have been dreaming," he said. "Thought I heard thunder and saw lightning. Feel as if I had been taking a Turkish bath with my clothes on."

"Then he went up stairs to the bathroom, and I forgot to explain when he came down."—Indianapolis News.

Selfish, Helpless Women.

The helpless woman is the most preeminently selfish of all women. The worst of it is that it is a very hard selfishness to fight against, as she is usually sweettempered in her tyranny. In her home life before marriage she is always the one who gets up last in the morning and shirks work all day long.
Today, however, men are beginning to realize that the self-reliant girl is not necessarily unfeminine, and that she makes a better friend and wife than the girl who is sweet and helpless. The helpless woman is a drawback to her husband from the start, for she will be an utterly unknown quantity—Exchange.

Kaiser Careful of Details.

A Hamburg paper tells this story about the Kaiser's attention to detail: "Shortly after his arrival at Swine-münde the Kaiser was standing on the bridge of the Hohenzollern, when he noticed the sentry, a member of the Stettiner Royal Grenadiers, on duty near the customs officer, wore a topcoat, but had his trousers over his boots. The Kaiser shouted to the lieutenant of the guard: 'Lieutenant, when topcoats are worn the trousers must be worn inside the boots.' The officer, an extremely youthful fellow, became confused and did not know what to say, and the emperor called in louder tones: 'Lieutenant, I again call your attention to the regulation—trousers must be worn over the boots by men who wear topcoats.' The command then flew from post to post and pedestrians wondered why the soldiers suddenly became busy with their boots."

The Judicial Way.

An associate justice of the supreme court of Patagassar was sitting by a river when a traveler approached and said: "I wish to cross. Would it be lawful to use this boat?" "It would," was the reply; "it is my boat."

The traveler thanked him, and pushing the boat into the water embarked and rowed away. But the boat sank and the man was drowned.
"Heartless man!" said an indignant spectator. "Why didn't you tell him that your boat had a whole in it?" "The matter of the boat's condition," said the great jurist, "was not brought before me."—Cosmopolitan.

Doubly Sure.

"Smith," said the grocer, severely, "did you charge Mr. Jay for that basket of peaches?" "Yes, sir," the clerk replied; "I think I did, sir."
"Well, charge him again," said the other. "You can't be too sure of a thing of that kind."

Dr. Wharton spoke to a large congregation Sunday morning and at this service there were seven added to the Baptist church. The attendance at the men's and boys' meeting at the court house Sunday afternoon was large, every seat in the court room being taken. Nearly every man present signified his intention to live a better life. At night the seating capacity of the Baptist church was taxed to its limit, many standing and not a few were compelled to turn away. At this service two persons united with the church and the meeting unanimously extended, by a rising vote, an invitation to Dr. Wharton to hold another meeting here a year hence. Monday evening Dr. Wharton delivered his lecture, "A Picnic In Palestine." It is great and produced real enjoyment for two hours. Dr. Wharton has made a host of friends, has accomplished much good and his return several months hence will be anxiously looked for. He left here Tuesday for Winchester and thence Wednesday to Cynthia, where he begins a meeting, and from there he will go to Frankfort or return to Winchester. The prayers and best wishes of our people are for many years of usefulness for this great man.
